Climbing the tower of Babel Prophet In Overalls 211

People have a insatiable desire to know about nature of things.

They spend entire lives searching for specific answers

From my experience in Physics education, at the start of my second PHD year I realized that there was some strange disconnects. A unique language was used to hide information (ie truth). Activities were controlled by parroting other "experts" for degree acceptance.

I decided to hire this talent as required.

Fast forward to the exploding knowledge age.

Guesses are made , theoretical schemes formulated from measurements. If the answer is weak, then future experimental activity reveals more questions.

What is being done, mankind in

His personal quest is attempting to explain reality without acknowledging God. Replacing fleshy explanation, with the "hidden" agenda of replacing God and His sovereign authority .

Trying to explain a supernatural God by man's limited capability is absolute idiocy.

Even more laughable is " belief in nothing = Atheism " to explain anything.

Spontaneous creation from nothing. Then breaking the law of thermodynamics confirms the fallacy of Evolution..

Dramatically mixing words variation to gain appeasement.

Forest Gump said it all " stupid is as stupid does"

May the Holy Spirit direct you in Elohim's eternal truth and victory.
